Lights ahead on the way: Stories Stana Apostol

The book consists of two parts: Realistic stories – striking stories of real life, human personalities, and emotions. Most of them are love and infidelity stories, but all of them are so vivid that if you do not feel related to them, you certainly know something like that could be happening to the people living next door, or someone else you know. It feels like reading about life the way it is, without judging or explaining it. Tales of magic – these are more descriptive stories which intertwist reality and fantasy in a very subtle and pleasant way. The book is easily read, and engaging, and even after finishing it, the reader still find himself recalling many parts of it.
